"In the face of darkness, light doesn't just shine—it triumphs. Let my journey inspire you to reclaim joy, resilience, and well-being, transcending the depths of life's challenges."

LaTanya Black's compelling narrative serves as a testament to her passion, love, resilience, and unwavering faith amidst life's formidable challenges. With a diverse background as an executive director, board vice-chair for a statewide nonprofit, dedicated frontline Community Health Worker, and national ambassador, LaTanya provides a unique perspective shaped by profound experiences. Her work includes extensive engagement with adults living with mental health disabilities, along with a deep involvement in geriatric care and end-of-life Hospice services.

Despite her notable achievements and respected roles, LaTanya found herself plunged into unimaginable grief on June 13, 2020, receiving a distressing call informing her of her daughter's life being abruptly ended by a single gunshot to the head. In the aftermath of this catastrophic event that forever upended her life, LaTanya discovered an extraordinary inner strength, fueled by her deep faith in God and the unwavering support of her community.

This transformative journey has shaped her into a passionate spokesperson for community change and betterment, dedicated to creating a space of health and wellness for all. LaTanya is deeply committed to public safety, actively serving as a gun violence prevention advocate and working with legislation to bring about positive changes. Additionally, she serves as a delegate in her district, emphasizing her dedication to community health and safety.

Engaging with audiences, LaTanya openly discusses the physical and mental health effects of trauma, drawing from her personal experience of hospitalization due to physical health challenges amid the complexities of grief and the traumatic loss of her 23-year-old daughter.

She emphasizes the importance of addressing all facets of well-being—physical, mental, and emotional—in the journey of self-discovery and healing. LaTanya asserts that holistic self-care is non-negotiable, stressing that individuals actively contribute to their own growth and well-being by integrating comprehensive self-care practices into their transformative journey.

LaTanya's keynote addresses and offers valuable insights, resilience, and an enriching pilgrimage toward self-awareness and personal growth, highlighting the potential for healing and restoration amid profound darkness. Her message is one of hope, inspiration, and actionable change for organizations seeking a speaker deeply connected with their audience. By authentically sharing her life-lived experiences, LaTanya empowers individuals to approach grief, life hardships, and challenges in a rejuvenating and empowering way.

She firmly believes that while inspiration nourishes the soul, providing practical tools is essential to supporting individuals as they navigate life-shaking circumstances.
